

Native Youth in Science – Preserving Our Homelands –

An Example of an Innovative and Culturally Relevant Science Program for Native Youth

Employee Development is one of the most powerful tools managers have for increasing employee engagement, innovation and productivity. The conversation is essential and is often lost because of time and other commitments.

In this 1 hour webinar, you will be given tools to help enhance the Individual Development Planning (IDP) Dialogue. You will receive resource guidelines on how to make the conversation essential.

Monique Fordham

Monique Fordham is the National Tribal Liaison for the U.S. Geological Survey, located at USGS Headquarters in Reston, VA. She is an attorney with a specialization in federal Indian law, and co-designer of the Native Youth in Science Program.

Ben Gutierrez

Dr. Ben Gutierrez is a Geologist with the U. S. Geological Survey's Coastal and Marine Geology Program in Woods Hole, Massachusetts, and co-designer of the Native Youth in Science program.

Renee Lopes Pocknett

Renee Lopes-Pocknett (M.Ed) is the Director of the Education Department of the Mashpee Wampanoag Tribe, in Mashpee, MA, and co-designer of the Native Youth in Science Program.